

Important Repair Information

Electronic Actuator

The electronic units, also known as e-actuators or e-controller, are offered by the manufacturer as a repair solution. When replacing these electronic components must be programmed and adapted to the vehicle. This is once possible only!

source: Motair

The work steps specified by the vehicle manufacturer must be strictly observed. A suitable test or setting device is required for programming. Wrong procedure or problems with the connected device (e.g. interruption of the power supply) can lead to the destruction of the electronic control unit!

Please note that these electronic components cannot be returned or exchanged!